

Digressions and Dragons

A GAMING DISCUSSION PODCAST

about the podcast

Digressions and Dragons is a podcast started by Scott Rehm and Brian Casey, better known by their internet handles The Angry GM and Fiddleback. The show focuses on discussion of larger trends in gaming, the development of games, and the media and culture surrounding them. Recent topics have included analysis of current RPG releases, the portrayal of gamers in the media, and barriers to entry for the self-publisher. In addition, we engage with listener feedback and present it all with humor and thoughtfulness.

about our audience

Our listeners are committed to and involved in our content. They are gamers first, but maintain interest in many other fields, particularly movies, video games, and books. They fly their geek flag proudly, but are not afraid to challenge us. They take their gaming seriously and love a good debate and a good laugh.

statistics

11,850
combined
followers

10,500+
listens in 3 months

+7% weekly
growth

ad slots available

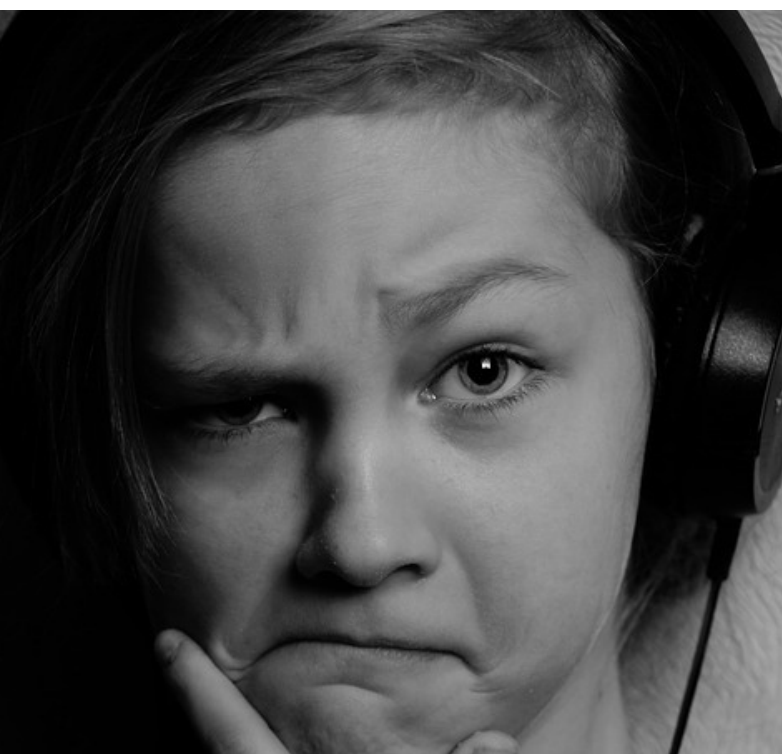

three 45 to 60 second mid-roll (during the show) ad slots available host read and produced includes mention of sponsorship and url in show notes on website and YouTube your unique selling points included in ad read reach over 1,100 listeners a week ad rates

$20 per ad slot per episode select one, two, or all three slots depending on availability minimum commitment of 12 weeks pricing and availability subject to review every 12 weeks contact details

Email

digressionsanddragons@gmail.com

Website / Social Media

www.digressionsanddragons.com / @fiddleback / @theangrygm

